Recommendation H

1. We concur in this recommendation which, in fact, needs no comment as it is really only an endorsement of action taken by FBID several years ago.

2. Although Pakistan is quite definitely out of the picture at this time, an effort is currently being made to determine the attitude of the Turkish Government toward extending hospitality to an overt monitoring operation should Cyprus become untenable. While relocation to Turkey for the sake of providing a little more coverage of Soviet Central Asian transmitters could not be justified, if relocation becomes necessary because of disturbances in Cyprus, Turkey should be considered most seriously in view of the likely improved reception of Russian regional transmitters.

Recommendation I

1. We concur in this recommendation.

2. In the near future, certain recommendations for changes in the Table of Organization will be submitted, and these will incorporate the recommendations of the survey. It must be remembered, however, that lifting the level of the Bureau Chiefs at the five major FBID bureaus will in time inevitably raise the grade level of subordinate positions in those bureaus, and in order to provide for rotation without downgrading, which the survey deplores, the effects will surely be felt in headquarters. Provided these upgradings can be accomplished in a gradual and steady manner, it is believed that the long-range result will be beneficial. Unquestionably, supervisory positions in FBID, with their numerous grave responsibilities, are graded below comparable positions in other parts of the Agency.
